While we're on the topic of anniversaries ...

In 2027 Canterbury will be 300 years old!

If you have a great sense of history, love this town, and like a good party, please email the town at tricentennial@canterburynh.gov.

We are collecting names and will plan a meeting in September to start tossing around ideas for a year-long celebration of Canterbury. Once we are loosely organized, we'll get on the selectboard agenda in early October to formalize the committee, and then the fun begins!

Everyone is welcome, and those with experience fund-raising and event planning are particularly encouraged.

What a Great Day for a Daydream!

Dear Friends,

As we lean into the last weeks of summer under milkweed skies and drifting monarch butterflies, I hope you get some time to daydream. It may be a lost art today, since we are so often rewarded for producing and consuming, and above all, being busy. A few weeks ago, a church member gave me some advice about preaching. Half-apologetically, they said, this morning's sermon was a little long; I suppose you saw me looking out the window.

Pastor Becky

spent daydreaming!

Since then I've been thinking about gazing out the window, about drifting away in that state that researchers call mind-wandering. I'm pretty sure it's an important part of what we do in church. That mid-sermon daydream is one way we connect our lives with text and tradition. It makes space for us to integrate what we're receiving from the outside with what's going on inside. Daydreams help keep our spiritual life vital and creative.

We don't grow in faith, or even in self-understanding, by simply receiving what others tell us to be true, or by staying laser focused (even on a fabulous sermon)! Psychologists and neurologists tell us that daydreaming helps us make sense of the world and our place in it. In this state we can draw together the truths of faith and our lived experience. When we let our minds wander, we encounter new insights, fresh ways to live Immediately I assured him that looking out the window doesn't trouble me one bit. Some of my sweetest moments have been

You are always welcome here!

Worship, every Sunday, 10 to 11 am. Please join us!

Open fellowship following. Coffee, snacks and friendly conversation in the Parish House.

Sunday, Aug. 18: Breakfast Church in the Parish House. Pot luck!

with others, and even with ourselves. In daydreams we can range over our past and also look ahead – to hope for the future.

So I hope you'll join us this fall for some daydreaming in church and children's church, in study groups and prayer and choir, and maybe even during a sermon! We welcome you to explore with us the inner life, the life of heart and mind and spirit, and our life together in God.

In Peace,
Becky

What's Up Around Town? So Much!

A ball and a swap: save these dates

In October, a clothing swap!

The spring clothing exchange was such a success that we've decided to hold another on Saturday, Oct. 12, from 9 to 1 in the Town Hall. This one will include both adult and children's clothes. Drop off times will be announced in the October newsletter and in the Wednesday town email at a later date. Helpers will be needed to sort. Contact Judy Nelson via text at 603-493-4207 if you'd like to lend a hand.

In November: a masquerade ball!

Did you have a fantastic time at last year's Murder Mystery Event at the Town Hall? Or did you miss the sold-out event? Well, save the date and start planning your attire for the Fall Masquerade Ball, again sponsored by CUCC, being held at Canterbury Woods Country Club the evening of Saturday, Nov. 16. You'll enjoy a night of mystery, music (of the dancing kind), and marvelous hors d'oeuvres. Thanks to all who supported new memorial

In the 249th year of our great country, the town of Canterbury is honoring one of its past citizens: George Shannon, Revolutionary War soldier, who was killed at the Battle of Bunker Hill on June 17, 1775. In honoring George Shannon, we also honor the many Canterbury citizens who fought for our country's independence. It is therefore appropriate that a memorial stone has been erected in the northeast corner of the Center Cemetery in commemoration of these patriots.

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to those who made this project possible: Debbie Allen; Dale (Capt, USMC) and Susan Caswell; Michael and Jan Cote; Richard, Susan and Adam Decato; Timothy Gershin and Olivia Henry; Colin and Katrina Goegel; John Patrick Goegel; Kate and John (Capt, USA) Goegel; Moira Goegel; Nancy and Charles Hacking; Mark and Doris Hampton; Thomas Kelly, Beth Koester; Jeff Marcoux and Joanna Nugent; Lance and Kathleen Messinger; Diane Modugno; Sam Papps; Kent Ruesswick and Doneta Fisher; Chuck and Wendy Sanborn; Bob and Ellen Scarponi; Mark Stevens (CMSgt., USAF); Mark and Brenda Travis; Ron Turcotte and Judy Nelson; Canterbury Cemetery Association; Canterbury Fund; and Canterbury Historical Society.

Contributions were also made in the form of special remembrances:

- In Honor of John Forbes, 1LT, USA (Vietnam, 1970-71)
- In Memory of Francis Egan, Capt, USAF (KIA 12/19/1972, Vietnam)
- In Memory of Richard Proscia, PFC, USA (KIA 12/15/1967, Vietnam)

New rates set for Community Power

For the six months beginning Aug. 1, the new default energy rate for customers of Canterbury Community Power (CCP) will be 8.8 cents/kWh. This rate is based on an innovative new rate structure offered by the statewide Community Power Coalition of NH, which will combine "Granite Basic" (at 8.6 cents/kWh) with a "discretionary adder" of two-tenths of a cent/kWh. This will allow Canterbury to begin to create new Discretionary Reserves, available to the selectboard to fund or support local renewable energy projects or programs that will save even more money for Canterbury residents.

CCP will also offer "Granite Basic" (24.3% renewable) at 8.6 cents/kWh, as an "opt-down" energy rate; and as "opt-up" options, "Granite Plus" (33% renewable) at 9.3 cents, "Clean 50" (50% renewable) at 10.0 cents, and "Clean 100" (100% renewable) at 12.0 cents/kWh. Any Canterbury resident who has been on Granite Basic and wants to continue to pay the lowest possible rate can opt down. To do that, go to CommunityPowerNH.gov/Canterbury and make your selection online, or call a CCP customer service representative at 1-866-603-7697 weekdays between 8 am and 5 pm.
